About Us

Engineers Without Borders-USA is a non-profit organization that partners with developing communities worldwide in an effort to improve their quality of life through sustainable engineering initiatives.

Engineers Without Borders at the University of Kentucky is a student-led organization supported by dedicated engineering faculty and professional mentors. Our members are committed to using engineering to improve the quality of life in both local and international communities.

UK students have the opportunity to:

1. Manage projects and finances
2. Develop relationships with members of other cultures
3. Lead fundraising initiatives

Local Volunteering

We are active volunteers in our community and partner with local organizations such as:

- Lexington Parks and Recreation Department
- Lexington Humane Society
- Geomancer Permaculture
- Habitat for Humanity
- The Hope Center
- Legacy Reserve
